Les Stroud presents

'Survivorman: Reconnecting to the Earth'

Les Stroud is best known as the Canadian Screen Award winning producer, creator and star of the hit TV series Survivorman (OLN Canada, The Science Channel US, Discovery Channel International, City TV (Rogers) Canada), Blue Ant Media (Canada), and the only producer in the history of television to produce an internationally broadcast series entirely written, videotaped and hosted alone.

'Survivorman: Reconnecting to the Earth' Everything that I have done with Survivorman and my music has had at its core, the philosophy of simply trying to reconnect people to the earth. What's happening to this planet is happening fast. We have put ourselves in a place of needing to stop a speeding train with only old ropes and horses. But it can be done. There are a thousand ways it can be done. But to begin, is to feel the grass on our bare feet. To smell the pines and feel the breath of the forest on our faces. One of the thousand ways is the simplest; get outside to get to know and reconnect with our natural world. To re-establish an actual relationship with Mother Earth. It doesn't take going to the amazon jungle or the high Canadian arctic, it can start in the park just down the street. For we won't protect what we don't know. We can't love what we have never experienced. Tomorrows policy maker will not care to protect a pristine valley if they have never stepped foot in it.

First we reconnect with Mother Earth. Then we fight for her.

Michael Reynolds presents

'Sustainable Autonomy for Everyone'

Michael Reynolds has been a world leader in renewable energy and sustainable architecture for over 45 years. He designs and builds fully self-sufficient, clean tech homes made from natural and recycled materials. These homes are called Earthships and have been built around the world. Earthships heat and cool themselves naturally, produce their own electricity, collect their own water, treat their own sewage and grow a significant amount of their own food.

'Sustainable Autonomy for Everyone' explores the history and evolution of the Earthship concept and how it promotes sustainable autonomy for everyone. It covers the principles of solar/thermal design and building with natural and recycled materials to achieve comfort in any climate. The independent, integrated water systems of an Earthship will be examined and explained including water harvesting, contained sewage treatment and on-site food production. The talk will also cover off-grid power systems and how they can be applied on different types of structures varying from simple, disaster relief buildings up to modern Earthship homes with all amenities. Michael will also cover various international demonstration projects that Earthship Biotecture done over the past 25 years.

Dr. Robert Schoch presents Earth Rhythms and Cosmic Patterns, Solar Outbursts and Cycles of Civilization

A full-time faculty member at the College of General Studies at Boston University since 1984, earned his Ph.D. (1983) in Geology and Geophysics at Yale University. In the early 1990s, Dr. Schoch stunned the world with his revolutionary research that recast the date of the Great Sphinx of Egypt to a period thousands of years earlier than its standard attribution.

Earth Rhythms and Cosmic Patterns, Solar Outbursts and Cycles of Civilization

Many extraterrestrial cycles that impact Earth are well known, such as the daily cycle of day and night, tidal cycles, the monthly lunar cycle, the yearly seasons, and the approximately 11-year sunspot cycle. However, there are lesser-known cycles that affect Earth, some of which extend over thousands and even millions of years. For a quarter century Dr. Robert Schoch has been exploring the enduring mysteries of extremely ancient civilizations and has found that examination of these longer cycles is pivotal to an understanding of the rise and demise of ancient cultures. This is expressed in such traditions as the Hindu Yuga Cycle, Zodiacal Ages (currently we are transitioning from the Age of Pisces to that of Aquarius), and the classical concept of Gold, Silver, Bronze, and Iron Ages. These notions are often dismissed as mythological nonsense by orthodox academics, but Dr. Schoch has found evidence in support of their reality. With his re-dating of the Great Sphinx of Egypt in the 1990s, he placed the origin of civilization thousands of years earlier than previously believed – a thesis now confirmed by the stunningly sophisticated 12,000-year-old site of Göbekli Tepe in Turkey. But something catastrophic happened, not only to this early civilization, but also to our planet. The climate changed dramatically and in a geological instant, numerous species went extinct abruptly, glaciers melted and sea levels rose, and humanity suffered a mighty setback. The cause of all this turmoil? Our Sun! As Dr. Schoch will elucidate, the Sun goes through cycles of relative stability and quiescence punctuated by major solar outbursts, the ramifications of which are far reaching. Today, with our modern technology, we are incredibly vulnerable to such solar cycles, but with knowledge and foresight we can make preparations for the future.
